

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about people's interests and backgrounds using a wider range of language.

Can Do Statements

- I can apologize and respond to apologies.
- I can offer service and help.
- I can discuss how to deal with problems.

Ask your partner:

- When was the last time a waiter or salesperson apologized to you?
- What did they apologize for?
- How did you respond?

Let's Explore!

Sometimes you need to tell Vanessa to calm down!

* When you tell someone to "calm down" you want them to relax.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: We've had to deal with a lot of problems this week. What can anyone suggest for improvement?
- Tanya: Well, giving an apology like 'I must apologize for the inconvenience' helps a lot.
- Daniel: We'd better check supplies when we open them to make sure they're okay.
- Tanya: I agree with Daniel. We might want to do that regularly. Having customers feel nauseated is not what we want!
- Vanessa: We don't want our customers to be upset. Everything ought to be to their satisfaction.
- Tanya: We ought to keep a watch on some tables like that one with the spaghetti! What a mess that was! Even though people are supposed to watch their children we can't expect they will.
- Daniel: Even when things clearly aren't our fault, sometimes an explanation and a strong apology like 'I am so sorry that this happened' makes customers happy.
- Vanessa: I should keep myself calm as well. I must say I'm sorry if I shouted at anyone. Please don't hold it against me. Of course, I also suggest you tell me to calm down if you need to.
- Tanya: Is that a good idea? Won't you get more upset?
- Vanessa: Hmm ... Maybe someone can suggest a phrase to say in bad situations.
- Daniel: We could say Spaghetti Nightmare!
- Vanessa: Daniel, you're very resourceful. Can you help me make a list of things to remember?
- Daniel: Sure I can.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa says she's sorry!

Instructions: Select all the incorrect words in the sentences.

- Well, saying 'I must be apologize for the inconvenience' helps a lot.
- I am no so sorry that this has happened.
- I must to say I'm sorry if I shouted at anyone. Please don't hold it against me.
- Even though people are supposed to do watch their children, we can't expect they will.
- I should keep up myself calm as well.

Let's Practice!

Daniel has some suggestions!

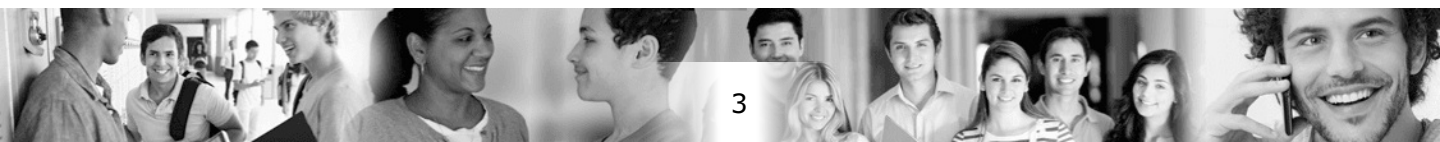

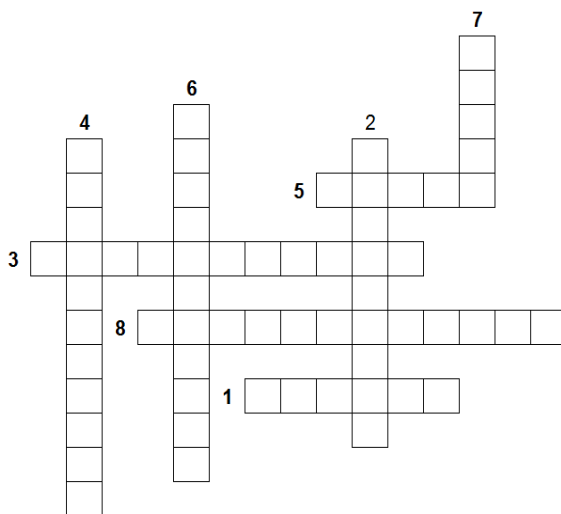

Instructions: Read each clue. Write the missing word in the crossword.

DOWN

- Having customers feel n_____d is not what we want!
- I must say, you're quite r_____l.
- Sometimes an e_____n and a strong apology makes customers happy.
- We don't want our customers to be u____t.

ACROSS

- Even though people are supposed to watch their children we can't e____t they will.
- I do apologize and hope you will not h____d this a____t us.
- Apologize even when things aren't our f____t.
- Everything ought to be to their s____n.

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue about a mistake you made.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a dialogue between you and a friend.
- Explain what the mistake was.
- Explain what happened and ask for help.
- Offer help and explain how to deal with the problem.
- Read your dialogue aloud with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I write a dialogue between two people about a mistake I made.

☐ ☐

I ask for help.

☐ ☐

I offer help.

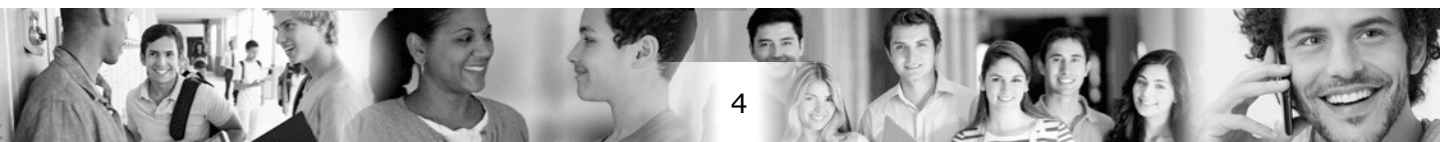

☐ ☐

I read the dialogue aloud to practice asking for and offering help.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to expect (verb): to believe something will happen
e.g. It does not taste the way you would expect it to!
- rest (noun): the remaining part e.g. You have to find the rest of it as well, please.
- nauseated (adjective): making you feel as if you may vomit
e.g. You must feel nauseated.
- to hold against (verb): to think badly of e.g. I do apologize and hope you will not hold this against us.
- explanation (noun): a reason for e.g. Daniel, you had better have a good explanation for this.
- clearly (adverb): obviously e.g. You can see it's clearly marked.
- fault (noun): something you are to blame for e.g. I very sorry but it's not my fault.
- to your satisfaction (expression): the way you want it e.g. I hope the other dessert we brought was to your satisfaction.
- resourceful (adjective): able to solve problems
e.g. I must say, you're quite resourceful.
- to be upset (expression): to feel distress
e.g. My husband is going to be very upset.

Learning Points

Apologizing

When things go wrong when you are at work, you may have to apologize or accept an apology.

You can use supposed to, should or must when you apologize, explain what did not happen or to accept an apology.

You use supposed to when you want to show you/someone did not do what was expected.

You use should to show the action would be a good idea.

You use must to show there is an obligation or necessity.

Example:	Meaning:
I'm sorry. I was supposed to call but I forgot.	I'm apologizing because I did not do the expected thing.
You really should call for reservations.	It would be a good idea to call next time.
You're right, I must call next time.	I have an obligation to call next time.
Yes, I know I was supposed to ...	I didn't do what was expected.
You must apologize to your mother for me.	You have an obligation to pass on the apology.

Examples:

- Well, saying 'I must apologize for the inconvenience' helps a lot.
- I am so sorry that this has happened.
- I must say I'm sorry if I shouted at anyone. Please don't hold it against me.
- Even though people are supposed to watch their children we can't expect they will.
- I should keep myself calm as well.

Learning Points

Offering Service and Help

When you offer service and help to customers, remember to be polite.
Respond to their requests using the modals could and would to suggest something.

When you respond to an offer of service or help, you should answer politely.

Offering Service or Help	Responding to Offers
What can you suggest for improving?	Well, giving an apology helps a lot.
Of course, I would suggest you tell me to calm down if you need to.	Is that a good idea? Won't you get more upset?
Maybe someone can suggest a phrase to say in bad situations.	We could say Spaghetti Nightmare!
Can you help me make a checklist of things to look for?	Sure I can.

